inboox reddit How To

In this guide I will explain how to:

1. Make an account
2. Subscribe to the inboox subreddit
3. Post a comment.

You will need an email address and a clever idea for a username.

Make an account
An account allows you to post on reddit and vote on things. Everything you upvote or comment or post will be visible to anyone who knows your username. If you post in a private subreddit (i.e. r/inboox) then only other users of the private subreddit will be able to see those posts. So, I would suggest making a username that doesn't include your name but maybe that people close to you might be able to recognize. E.g. I suggested that my mom use cochehombres because when you translate it to English becomes car+men = Carmen. (She didn't use my suggestion.)

To make an account, go to reddit.com and click "Sign Up" in the top right corner.

Subscribe to the inboox subreddit
The inboox subreddit will usually be set to private, meaning no one can access it unless they are approved. Once you create an account, navigate to reddit.com/r/inboox and click "JOIN" at the top. The rules of our subreddit will be in a box on the right.

Post a comment
On reddit, you can comment on posts and on comments. This means that you can respond to other people in an organized way that makes things easy to follow. Posts are generally ordered by the number of votes they have.

To comment, type something into the box and click send. If you would like to respond to someone's comment, click "reply" underneath their comment. If you think somebody made a good point, give them an upvote (by clicking the little up arrow on the left of their comment).

FAQ
Can my email get hacked from reddit?
Not unless you use the same passwords for your email account and reddit account.

If you have more questions, here is a reddit 101 guide. Feel free to email me any questions you may have if you get stuck!